

Pittsburgh native and fresh face on the local comedy scene, Collin Chamberlin is gaining ground quickly, performing for local clubs, college campuses and private events, including the Arcade Comedy Theater, the Pittsburgh Improv and The University of Pittsburgh. With a relatable and likeable style, Collin is a great fit for all types of audiences, whether he's talking about his parents or making fun of his obsession with Happy Meals. He has worked with many local comedians, as well as national acts including Christina Pazsitzky, Greg Warren and SNL's Kenan Thompson.
